concerned about prostate cancer.*

Affiliated with the Prostate Cancer
Foundation of Australia

Objectives

To create and promote awareness of prostate cancer, its symptoms and its treatments.

To reassure men and their families that information and support is available to them.

To provide speakers about prostate cancer when requested.

To encourage men to take control of their own health.

To act on behalf of men on issues of major concern relating to prostate cancer

To enhance our Group's relationship with health professionals and key players in the prostate cancer field.

Prostate Cancer Action Group (S.A.) Inc.

A non-profit group of volunteers, comprised mainly of people affected by prostate cancer. Members plan and implement services for people affected by the disease, work towards creating community awareness of prostate cancer and deal with associated issues.

Brief History

The Group was formed in 1997 with activities centred on a series of information sessions to increase community awareness of prostate cancer and the availability of support groups and resources. Initially these sessions involved education programs in the Metropolitan area plus regular speaking engagements to community based groups and medical meetings.

From 2001 our Group, with the assistance of medical and allied health professionals, has been conducting presentations mainly in key rural areas. The aim of these meetings is to provide information about the disease and its treatments and reassure men and their families that support is available.

How You Can Help

The Prostate Cancer Action Group welcomes men and women as members.

Anyone interested in promoting the awareness of prostate cancer in the community of South Australia may become a member. For more information please call any of the members listed on the reverse of this leaflet.
